Susan White named Senior Vice President/Manager of Enterprise Finance Funds and Matt Sattler named Strategic Project Assistant for ShoreBank Enterprise Cleveland (SEC)

Cleveland—(July 17, 2008) — Susan I. White, has been named from Senior Vice President/Manager of Enterprise Finance Funds. Among her responsibilities in her new position, Susan will oversee the monitoring the Funds' existing portfolio of loans, establish processes and procedures for the Funds, conduct due diligence, and structure new financings.

“Susan brings a wealth of knowledge in small business lending gained through her 22-year career in banking. The insights and experience Susan brings in the strategic planning process and into our local economy will prove incredibly beneficial as we reexamine our strategic position locally,” said Mary Ann Stropkay, President and CEO of ShoreBank Enterprise Cleveland.

Most recently, Susan served as Vice President of Strategic Planning, Small Business Banking at National City. Her role as the leader of the strategic planning process was instrumental in the development and execution of key objectives, including: channel optimization and segment strategy development. Throughout her 22-year career in financial services, Susan has served as a regional manager within the Retail Banking organization and a commercial lending officer within the Business Services Group of the bank.

Susan received her undergraduate degree in Economics from Northwestern University and her MBA from the Weatherhead School of Management at Case Western Reserve University.

Matt Sattler has been Strategic Project Assistant for ShoreBank Enterprise Cleveland. In his new position, Matt is responsible for the implementation of policy and process improvements, analysis of economic trends, and the development of an organizational measurement system.

Prior to joining ShoreBank Enterprise, Matt served as an Economic Development Specialist for the Lucas County Improvement Corporation and as an Associate for A.G. Edwards & Sons, in their public finance investment banking division. In those roles, his work included: the application of both qualitative and quantitative research in identifying regional economic trends, authoring industry-specific economic reports, and providing analytical support to senior public finance bankers.

Matt completed his BA in Political Science from The Ohio State University, his Master of Public Administration (MPA) degree from the University of Toledo, and his Master of Urban Planning, Design, and Development (MUPDD) from Cleveland State University.

About ShoreBank Enterprise Cleveland (SEC)

SEC is a nonprofit community and economic development organization whose mission is investing in people and their communities to create economic equity and a healthy environment. SEC focuses on city-based, early-stage and growing companies, especially minority-owned firms that are located on the city's East-Side, and companies that, through their products, services, or work processes contribute to a healthy local environment. SEC utilizes two investment funds to provide non-traditional investments to companies that are not ready for traditional bank financing. Customers receive technical assistance and brokered workforce solutions that help the business secure qualified workers. Finally, businesses can find affordable commercial space in SEC's Glenville Enterprise Center.
